

Chris Jaudes is one of New York City's busiest freelance trumpeters. He teaches at The Juilliard School.

Megastar Quincy Jones holds the record for the most Grammy nominations (seventy-nine), and has received twenty-nine Grammy Awards, including a Grammy Legend Award in 1991.

Strike Up the Band is one of many Quincy Jones albums recorded during the late 1950s and early '60s.

The great Russian trumpeter, Andrei Ikov (principal trumpet of the Bolshoi Theatre Orchestra), in his home music study.

Gravesite of famed keyed bugle soloist Ned Kendall in Boston's Old Forest Cemetery.

Detail of Kendall gravestone.

A leading researcher and writer about colonial America, Timothy Kent was fourth trumpet of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra from 1979-1998.